HARDY ON STAND DENIES CHARGES

JUDGE TELLS OF AIMEE
HELP

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—UP—Indignation of Angelus Temple members over public and official disbelief of the kidnapping story told by their pastor, Almie McPherson, prompted Judge Carlos S. Hardy's interest in the case, he testified at his impeachment trial today.

The veteran jurist told the state senate that hundreds of Mrs. McPherson's followers pleaded that he take part in clearing up the story of the evangelist's disappearance.

"I took a great personal interest in the investigation following Mrs. McPherson's return in June of 1926 with a story of having been kidnapped. But the only reason was that I wanted to aid my many friends at Angelus Temple, who were so disturbed over the slurs being cast at Mrs. McPherson's character," Judge Hardy said.

Questioned All Day Judge Hardy took the stand early in the day and was still being questioned by Ray E. Nimmo, one of his attorneys, when court adjourned this afternoon. Nimmo led the judge through a long series of questions, reading them from a prepared list which covered the testimony of the prosecution witnesses who told of having been instructed by Judge Hardy or of talking to him.

The testimony of Mrs. Lorraine Wisemann-Sellatt occupied the greater part of the day's examination of Judge Hardy. Different Story Denying that he had ever met Mrs. Sellatt with the exception of their conference at his home on Aug. 1, 1926, Judge Hardy told a story widely differing from that related by Mrs. Sellatt when she occupied the witness stand.

The entire tale of "framing" a woman who would testify that she was the "Miss X" who occupied the Carmel cottage with Kenneth G. Ormiston was discounted by Judge Hardy.

"The first time I ever heard of a 'Miss X' was two days after Mrs. Sellatt called on me (Continued on Page 3)

FEDERAL PLANE
BOMBS REBELS

NOGALES, Ariz., April 23.—UP—One bomb was dropped on the rebel garrison in Nogales, Sonora, today by a Mexican federal airplane with apparently no damage.

When the federal craft flew over American territory as it circled to return to Naco, Sonora, a United States Army plane stationed here went up immediately for patrol duty.

The attack was one of several by Naco planes in the last week. Damage has been slight. It was reported that the federal plane had a cargo of bombs weighing 100 pounds each for use in air attacks on Nogales.

American travelers who arrived here today by train reported that the Mexican federal warship "Progreso" attempted a bombardment of the train near Guaymas, Sonora, last night. They said that eight shells were fired by the Progreso, which was anchored in Guaymas harbor, but that all fell short.

United States army forces on border duty here during the present revolt were supplemented today by Battery B of the Eighty-second United States field artillery from Fort Bliss, near El Paso, Tex. The Twenty-second and Twenty-fifth Infantry have been here for some time.

Mayor Makes
Straw Hat Day
Proclamation

Now that the people of our city can look forward with reasonable assurance to fair skies and warm sunshine, I deem it proper to recognize the change of seasons and to proclaim that tomorrow is Straw Hat Day, for the men of Richmond. The time has come for those who have cherished their woolen headgear throughout the winter to lay it aside and don hats fitting for the occasion. It is my desire that the men of Richmond should be no less tasteful in dress than they have been clever and resourceful in all matters of civic progress; and I call upon the wives of our city to see that the hats selected by the men shall be becoming to their style of beauty.

MATTIE A. CHANDLER,
Mayor, City of Richmond.THE OLD SOAK
PREPARING TO SAIL FOR HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—(U.P.)—"The Old Soak" will sail from Manila Wednesday to become the "first parrot of the land." Arrangements were completed tonight by officials of the Dollar line here so that the pet of Secretary of State Stimson will be accorded every attention while traveling on the liner President Wilson enroute to Washington, D. C.

"Give 'The Old Soak' every attention," an order from local offices of the Dollar line to Captain F. E. Anderson of the President Wilson at Manila read. "Ascertain his usual diet and follow strictly. Cuddle his condition and spirits from Singapore, Colombia, Alexandria and Marseilles. Don't teach him any new expressions. We understand his vocabulary is sufficiently vigorous and extensive now."

The Chinese parrot was left behind when Henry L. Stimson was promoted from governor general of the Philippine Islands to a place in President Hoover's cabinet. Reports from Washington have indicated the wife of the new secretary of state feared talk of "The Old Soak" might not be eloquent and refined enough for the capital society.

Although the bird will undoubtedly be given the attention of a notable on board ship, his social status when it reaches Washington is still undetermined. Whether "The Old Soak" will reside in the White House or the residence of his master is the main point undecided.

"The Old Soak's" broken heart has been attributed for the reason that Stimson relented and asked that the bird be sent to them. The bird has been in failing health since they left, never speaking a word and often refusing to eat.

New Home Will Be Built Here

Another new home was added to Richmond's growing list for the month, yesterday when Pete Calletti obtained a permit to construct a cottage and garage on Barrett avenue between Thirtieth and Thirty-first street. The structure is to cost $4100.

AT HOTEL CARQUINEZ Arrivals at the Hotel Carquinez yesterday were A. E. Dobbs of Bakersfield, B. I. Body of San Bernardino, R. W. Blatchford and G. W. Torrance of Oakland and Mr. and Mrs. Tomario of Berkeley.

SEEN

Even if Richmond were to follow the course of the least resistance she would be destined to become an industrial center on the Pacific Coast, according to speakers at the luncheon meeting of the Traffic committee of the Richmond chamber of commerce yesterday noon at the Hotel Carquinez.

The session at which steamship company executives members of the Department of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and executives of the California Development association were the guests of honor, was the concluding of one of a series which started April 3.

Those present at the session yesterday from out of town were: J. C. Strittmatter, traffic manager for the McCormick steamship lines, Wesley Ash, district manager for the Department of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the U. S.; Leonard Geary, southern district manager for the California Development association; W. K. Graham, central district manager for the California Development association and G. P. Bell, Oakland and Eastbay manager for the McCormick steamship lines.

W. W. Scott, chairman of the traffic committee presided at the session which summed up the series of meetings which have been held during the month and at which officials of steamship companies, railroads, shippers and others have been the guests. At all of these sessions the development at the Richmond waterfront was outlined by Fred D. Parr, president of the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation. The sessions were held with the objective of acquainting all those interested with the new wharf facility under construction on the inner harbor and the general plans and industrial development.

Members of the California Development association in attendance at yesterday's meeting pronounced the Richmond chamber of commerce and the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation every possible cooperation in surveys which would aid in the location of industries here. All pointed out, however, that because the organization was a statewide organization they could not be partial to Richmond or any other city.

Graham declared that the vast amount of information which has been gathered over a number of years is open for the use of the local chamber if it cares to use it in making overtures to industries to locate here. Graham urged the organization of a central bureau in the San Francisco bay area for the solicitation of industries.

He expressed the belief that many industries were lost because of the cities pulling against one another and pointed out that a central bureau would be able to present a prospect with data and maps on all the sites available from San Leandro to Richmond on the east side of the bay as well as those in San Francisco and to the south.

Ash also offered the files of his company for the use of the local chamber, pointing out that information was available on all points of the Pacific including South America and China. This data according to Ash is invaluable in finding outlets for commodities manufactured in this country.

All of the speakers touched on the vast increase in shipments to China and that the bay region is destined to become the center of great shipping activities to that nation, as well as others on the other side of the Pacific. Richmond will take its place among the leading ports of the coast as this trade develops they pointed out.

SKATERS GAIN
WEIGHT AFTER
50 DAY ROLL

PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—UP—Strap on your skates, enter a roller skating marathon and gain weight!

Believe it or not, 11 remaining contestants from a field of 60 in a skating derby inaugurated at an east side rink March 1 still roll along and add a few pounds every week.

Two women and nine men are rounding out their figures after having been on rollers for 50 days and nights, or approximately 1180 hours.

Consider Al Myers, Portland cafeteria owner, who left his skates and trays to roll for the $1,000 first prize. He has picked up 24 pounds. And Eddie Straub, automobile endurance driver, who never had a skate on until he entered the derby. He's added 12 pounds and the ace pick him has a certain winner.

Sleep—or lack of it—is the greatest enemy of marathon skaters. Trainers pull their charges off coats after every 17-minute rest period during the hour. A light rap on the jaw, ear pinching, general shaking up and cold water are accepted means of snapping skaters out of naps. But after all marathon skaters are human. A four-bit piece dropped fore or aft of a snoozing (Continued on Page 5)

Blaze Damages
Local Residence

Fire believed to have been caused by defective wiring in a lighting fixture and plugged fuses, caused slight damage at the home of J. A. Eads, 2354 Downer avenue last night. The blaze was extinguished by Engine 3 of the Richmond fire department.

According to reports from the fire department, tin foil was used to plug the light fuses and this may have led to a short circuit that started the blaze.

GOVERNMENT
SCORED

HENDAYE, French Spanish border, April 23.—(U.P.)—A sensational manifesto attacking the government of Premier Primo de Rivera and declaring that Bolshevism is about to be born in the Spanish army, has been circulated in Madrid, according to advices received from the Spanish capital tonight.

The manifesto, of which Alejandro Lerroux, noted republican leader, is said to be author, asserted that King Alfonso could not ask the premier-dictator to resign if he desired and suggested that a national form of government be evolved in which all sections of public opinion would be represented.

Urging the public to work towards convocation of a constitutional assembly, the manifesto said provision might be made whereby King Alfonso would go to America from which he would return as a Spanish citizen in case the assembly should decide in favor of a republic, according to advices received here.

Political circles were described as amazed by the attack on the dictator, who has put down all subversive movements with an iron hand during his regime.

The manifesto was entitled "Collaboration or revolution" and said the dictatorship in the past five years had not accomplished any constructive work towards making possible a regime of responsible men in Spain. It alleged that public opinion does not support Primo de Rivera and that political parties no longer exist.

"The army is without discipline and Bolshevism is about to be born in it," the manifesto said. The dictator's plan for constitutional reform was described by the manifesto as being prepared by an "illegal body without the help of national sovereignty, thus aggravating the whole problem."

CLYDE INN
MAY CLOSE

MARTINEZ, April 23.—Closing of the Clyde Inn, recently leased by the Columbia Steel company to accommodate workmen of the company who could not find housing accommodations in Pittsburg, is being considered by company officials, it was learned here today.

Improvement in home accommodations in Pittsburg with the consequent moving of a number of the company employees from Clyde to the city of their employment has reduced the number staying at the 200 room hostelry.

Aviatrix In New Attempt
For Record

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., April 23.—UP—Miss Eleanor Smith flying flapper of Fresno, was cruising smoothly over Long Island tonight in her attempt to recapture the women's solo endurance flight record from Louise McPhetridge, of California.

The 17-year-old girl, took off from Roosevelt field, at 11:40 a. m. with 210 gallons of fuel in her huge Bellanca plane. She expects to stay aloft until two or three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Flying conditions are good. Mrs. McPhetridge's record is 22 hours and three minutes.

'I'd Do It Again'

"I LIVED the last two days like the queen of Sheba," that's what piquant Ermyatrade Smith told police when arrested in Atlantic City, N. J., charged with robbing employer, Milton Mackey of Pittsburgh of $14,000. She told authorities she was not the least bit sorry.

HOOVER, SENATE IN DISPUTE
OVER IMMIGRATION QUOTA

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(U.P.)—The range of controversy has been President Hoover's farm relief plan. After Senator McNary had completed his speech telling why he could not support the bill, the debate plan Senator Carey, of Idaho, sponsor of the plan, vigorously criticized the president's statement opposing it, while Senator Norris, of Neb., pointed out the committee had been unanimously for it with Hoover's sanction.

"The farm is just a subsidy to the mortgage interest as the debtors plan would be for the farmer," Carey declared. "A bonus of $100,000,000 which the debtors plan would provide is an uncanny gift to 25,000,000 of our people in distress, after we have the railroads and suicide."

This was the second senate rebuff for the president in two days. The other was signaled today in formal report of the farm relief bill to the senate with the amendment, which the agriculture committee approved yesterday, eight to six.

Because of his opposition to the national origins quota basis, the president is not expected to permit this legislative delay, which may mean defeat, to stand without a fight. He has begun a fight against the farm relief bill, which is expected to be successful ultimately, though he can't commit over-trade him.

The controversy over the debtors plan flared up in the senate today as it took up the farm relief bill formally, indicative of wrangling that may last for days and delay final action. The house concluded debate today, and probably will pass its bill Thursday.

Democrats on Wa'Path Democrats in both house and senate went on the warpath today to attack the administration's farm relief plan. After Senator McNary had completed his speech telling why he could not support the bill, the debate plan Senator Carey, of Idaho, sponsor of the plan, vigorously criticized the president's statement opposing it, while Senator Norris, of Neb., pointed out the committee had been unanimously for it with Hoover's sanction.

"How the United States became a Nation" will be the subject of an address to be delivered before the Richmond Kiwanis club at 11 o'clock tonight in the Hotel Carquinez, it was learned here today.

Herbert L. Breck, of Oakland, will be the principal speaker. W. L. "Doc" Seawright will be the chairman of the day and Clara D. Horner will preside.

Notice of intention to wed was filed in Martinez yesterday by Peter R. Campisani, 25, 1224 Thirtieth street Richmond and Lulu Goble, 25, 1856 Twenty-fifth street, Oakland.

97 REPORTED
DISASTER

TOKIO, April 23.—UP—The Japanese steamer Tokokuni Maru carrying 299 persons, was reported to have foundered Monday night off the coast of the Kamikaze peninsula, northeast coast.

It was feared that 23 men and 12 persons had lost their lives. Two Japanese steamers, according to the Tokokuni Maru's log, were believed to have rescued 97 of the passengers and crew. Most of the passengers were fishermen.

Reports of the rescue, however, were contradictory, and official figures were available. A cruiser was ordered to the scene from Oshima, Hokkaido island.

The steamer was said to have been insured for $2,500,000 but it was an old steamer of 2,354 tons, built in 1886.

MAN ADMITS
KILLING PAL

FRESNO, April 23.—UP—Sought for two weeks on a homicide warrant, issued in San Bernardino, James V. Medora, 26, was arrested here tonight and police announced he had admitted killing his best friend, J. J. Hull, in self defense.

Medora was arrested on the highway near here by detectives of the National Auto club, who claimed he was driving an automobile that had belonged to Hull until the latter's tragic death on April 12.

He was questioned by police officers when he was brought here and they said he had confessed.

"Hull" was my best friend, when he was sober, but very mean when drunk," the officers quoted Medora as saying. "It is tough to fight with your best friend."

Medora said he had come here to visit his mother's grave and had stayed with his brother, G. H. Medora, Fresno farmer. He denied that he had stolen money from Hull. Police said he claimed his "pal" had attacked him first with a butcher knife and a broken rifle and he fought the man off to save his own life.

Murder Hinted
In Suicide Pact

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 23.—UP—A "suicide pact" between a married man and his 17-year old girl sweetheart appeared tonight to have been murder and suicide.

Dr. J. K. Gilmore, coroner told the United Press that a post mortem examination had convinced him that Allan Carey, 35, killed his sweetheart Miss Ruth Davis, 17, and then took poison to escape punishment for his crime.

Carey, tuberculosis patient in the Union Printer's Home here, drove an automobile carrying the body of Miss Davis, daughter of a local mechanic into a garage here today and collapsed from the poison he had taken. Notes in a notebook indicated the couple had committed suicide because they were not free to marry.

Dr. Gilmore's examination of Miss Davis' body failed to reveal any traces of poison, he said tonight. It was indicated that she had been suffocated.

CALLES

Plutarco Elias Calles, Generalissimo of the federal armies, is commonly referred to in Mexico as the man who holds his country's destiny in his hands.

This much has been said of General Calles before but never with more conviction than at present as his troops drive before them the insurgents who turned against the government which Calles helped in no little way to establish.

A quiet unassuming man whose enormous strength of character is obvious at first contact, this former president came back from private life to shoulder his country's greatest burden at a time when skeptics frankly expressed doubt that the present Mexican government could survive the shock of revolt.

Instead of choosing the quickest way out, General Calles who, upon retiring from public life last year, promised that "in case of public emergency" his services always would be at the disposal of his country, took over the war portfolio and snatched up the gauntlet thrown down by Generals Aguirre, Escobar, Manzo, Caravaca and others.

What General Calles accomplished already is a part of Mexican history. Calles is a pensive, courteous considerate man whose entire lack of pompousness constitutes one of his chief marks of distinction. He shuns personal publicity and does not seem to think that propaganda is of prime necessity to the success of his ventures.

Before retiring from the presidency, Calles told the country and the world that "cadillismo" or one man military rule in Mexico was a thing of the past. A "government of institutions" would be established and maintained, he promised, and he, Calles, would back it up.

Knowing ones then said "Calles has Mexico's destiny in his hands," a phrase which today has found echo throughout the land. He promised that Mexico's "government of institutions" would be maintained and he has kept his promise to maintain it.

NOT ALTOGETHER THE AUTOMOBILE

Not the automobile but man's carelessness in handling it continues to take a toll of between 400 and 600 lives each month in the United States. Mortality statistics have been issued by the census department, based on reports from areas which take part in the death registration work, showing that since May 1, 1923, the death rate has been sustained, with seasonal fluctuation due to the varying use of cars by the people.

The department of Commerce announces that during the four weeks ending March 23, 1929, 78 large cities in the United States reported 525 deaths from automobile accidents. This number compares with 421 during the same period, 1928. Most of the deaths were the result of accidents which occurred within the corporate limits of the city, although some accidents occurred outside of the city limits.

For comparison, the number of deaths due to automobile accidents within city limits is desirable. Such figures are available for the four week period ending March 23, 1929 and for the corresponding four week period of 1928 for all of the 78 cities, the four week figure in 1929 being as contrasted with 361 for the corresponding four weeks in 1928.

Considering by four week periods since May, 1925, total deaths from automobile accidents for 78 cities, regardless of place of accident, the lowest total, 346, appears for the four week period ending March 27, 1926 and the highest, 771, for the four week period ending Dec. 28, 1928.

The average of members of the new cabinet is 60 years. President Hoover apparently is not to be counted among those who would place the deadline in selecting assistants.—Boston Transcript.

Here's Easy Way To Satisfy Urge For Strawberries

With the reappearance of the strawberry, housewives are being swamped with demands for strawberry shortcake, strawberry pie, and a dozen and one other desserts featuring this universal favorite. Many of these dishes, though good enough to eat seven days a week, are a little too much work to prepare quite this often. And so a suggestion seems in order of a way to satisfy the family's strawberry clamor with very little effort.

Feed Strawberries
Wash and hull a quart of strawberries, mash to a pulp, add half a cup of sugar and the juice of half a lemon. Mix thoroughly and freeze. If an ice cream freezer is not at hand, an easy way is to put the mashed berries into a baking powder tin, and pack it in cracked ice and salt—three parts ice to one part salt.

Strawberries iced in this way are easily prepared—and are sure to become a favored delicacy wherever they are once served.

Quentin Felon Forges Checks Within Prison

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, April 23.—UP—A check-kiting scheme engineered by a convict who was formerly a bank cashier in Los Angeles, and that has netted approximately $1500 had been discovered by prison authorities tonight.

Gilbert Fratus, 37, the prisoner from Los Angeles who had been in the prison accounting department as a trustee, was placed in solitary confinement tonight and a search was under way for his accomplice in San Francisco. Fratus, according to prison officials, handled all checks signed by Warren James B. Holohan and Mark Monro, secretary of the state prison board. They said when he sent the checks to be signed he covered the place for the name of the payee and amount with transparent mullage and when the checks were returned he melted this off. Then the checks were made out to a Harry Larabee, and mailed to this accomplice.

HOOVER HEARS OF VETERAN PROBLEMS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—One of the first acts of President Hoover following his inauguration was to give consideration to the problems of the disabled World war veterans, according to Paul V. McNitt, national commander of the American Legion who is now touring California.

McNitt has visited the various government hospitals in California in company with Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., state commander, and James K. Fisk, state adjutant of the American Legion. He has also been inspecting the various Legion posts of the state.

The first act of McNitt following the inauguration ceremonies was to present to the new president the problem of the disabled men of this country, the first charge of the Legion.

The interview was satisfactory. McNitt said he was in Washington during the entire day of March 4 and attended all the inaugural ceremonies pertaining to the president.

In discussing the interview with President Hoover relative to the American Legion's program as the first major objective of the Legion, McNitt declared that he was certain that he would have the help of President Hoover in putting over his plan.

"We have a present program for the disabled man," he has said since then, "and the first thing on that program is to improve and expedite our own service to him. I know what a tremendous responsibility has fallen upon the service officers of our posts and our departments. These men have worked night and day and have performed a wonderful service. As the years have passed the problem has increased. Its solution requires the work of experts. We must bring to these service officers every possible assistance in order that they may promptly and efficiently perform the most important task assigned to them."

The second phase of our rehabilitation program is to bring about additional liberalized provisions in the laws affecting disabled veterans.

"The third phase is to see to it that existing administrative agencies give a liberal interpretation to existing laws. I have no complaint to make of the director of the Veterans' Bureau, of the heads of our regional offices or of those who are employed therein. However, being human, these men may forget that each file which crosses the desk represents a human life and possibly three or four lives. The laws affecting veterans must be administered with sympathetic understanding. The American Legion must be vigilant in seeing to it that the Veterans' Bureau does not fall into the habit of bureaucracy and become entangled in red tape."

Leads Rink On
A silver-dollar tossed in front of Lena Brice failed to awaken her when she parked at the rink beauty parlor to have a marcel and facial. Three attendants finally derided 165-pound Lena to her feet and away she rolled—in a day—but still rolling.

All who enter the rink and have "skates on" are not in the marathon. There are those hardy individuals, numbered among the hundreds who lay down 50 cents a head, who step off at the rink in the early hours of the morning after spreading cheer at wayside inns, apartments and homes.

Ban Planned
City council plans to do something or other in the way of prohibiting future marathons after hearing reports that "whoopie" in the bleachers is more of an attraction for the crowd than the slumbering skaters.

It's all a very co-mopolitan crowd, with banker, bond man and bootlegger fraternizing with a heavyweight wrestler and a ham fighter, each chiding occasionally with a version of how long it will be before Lillian Wash or her brother, Mike, will pass out of the derby.

The management and those fellows who follow the racket say that the skaters can go another week or two. They already have surpassed the marathoners who quit recently at Ocean Park, California after 1035 hours.

And if anyone cares, they are determined to lower the world's record of 1517 hours hung at Chicago last year.

The test of a hostess

The caller has asked for a glass of water. What then? Will the hostess keep her waiting while she lets the water run, hoping it will grow cold, and finally return in desperation with a tepid glassful? Or will she be back in a moment with a glass of cold, delicious water that gives off the refreshing tinkle of crystal clear ice?

An everyday occurrence. Yet this trifle is just as much the test of a hostess as a large formal dinner—and just as impossible a situation to meet successfully without a good icebox.

Hospitality demands an icebox well filled with ice. Only an icebox SURELY provides plentiful ice for water glasses, for butter and olive dishes, for ice cream and chilled drinks at any time.

Only an icebox, with its circulating, correctly humid air, keeps foods fresh and flavorful. Meat and cold cuts with all their appetizing juiciness. Salads green and crisp, but never brittle. Fruit and desserts just cold enough.

Ice costs little. It saves more than its price in food alone. It safeguards health, adds pleasure to meals, and lends distinction to your table.

RECORD HERALD

STRAW HATS TO MAKE DEBUT ON RICHMOND STREETS TODAY

Heads up—and there's a reason. Today is straw hat day and every head that knows its hats will be robed in a spanking, new, straw bonnet, of the latest mode.

There will be colored Sennits, Leghorns, Sennits, Panamas and then just ordinary straw hats. But they will all be there in the grand parade on Macdonald avenue and the side streets.

Richmond merchants are keeping pace with the sun and today are displaying every variety of straw hat which Dame Fashion has approved for the present season.

Although Straw Hat day gives the well dressed men of Richmond a chance to display the latest in straw bonnets, it also heralds the approach of another season of the year—summer and vacations.

The weather man has been kind this year and has announced that the day will be clear and bright, with enough sun to make the straw hats useful as well as decorative.

As usual there will be a strong "fight" between the younger bloods for the "honor" of wearing the hat with the loudest colors.

And then there will be another "contest"—to see who can wear the sloppiest Panama hat. "Entrants" in this contest generally prepare their bids by putting them under the mattress and sleeping upon them all night.

And there is the third "contest"—who can wear the snappiest hat at the best tilt. Honors in this "contest" are almost evenly divided. Proponents of a rakish tilt over the left eye will tell you the merits of this move while those who firmly believe that a tilt of the brim over the right eye lends that necessary blase touch that identifies the well dressed men.

But there are other styles of wearing the straw bonnet. Big Business Men make it a practice of wearing Panamas pulled well down over the eyes; insurance salesmen wear them with a cocky right side tilt and politicians generally place them on the back of their heads so their dear public can get the full benefit of their smiles.

But no matter how they wear them, or why, Straw Hat day will remain Straw Hat Day.

Theft Charges Face Suspect

MARTINEZ, April 23.—An indictment charging James Edward Gorley of Antioch with looting United States mail will be asked of the federal grand jury which will meet tomorrow afternoon to investigate Gorley's case.

The man was arrested in Pittsburg recently when he attempted to cash a check stolen from the post office box of an Antioch bank.

Gorley is said to have served an 18 month sentence in San Quentin prison for forgery in Los Angeles. Seven witnesses, residents of Oakley and Pittsburg, have been summoned by G. W. Kavanaugh, deputy U. S. marshal, who was in Martinez yesterday.

HARDY DENIES ALL SENATE CHARGES

at my home. I then read an item in a Los Angeles paper, stating that Ormiston had made an affidavit regarding his Carmel companion whom he described as "Miss X." It is obvious that I couldn't have discussed a "Miss X" with Mrs. Seilaff because I knew nothing of such a person," said the judge.

Denies Charges
"I never conversed with any one regarding the producing of a woman to pose as the 'Miss X' character described in the Ormiston affidavit."

Notes written to Mrs. Seilaff by Judge Hardy while he was on his vacation in 1926 and telegrams received by him from her were admitted by the jurist. But he never saw her after the August hearing until the preliminary hearing of Mrs. McPherson's case he said.

The $2,500 "love offering" check given Judge Hardy by Angelus Temple and which was the cause of the impeachment trial was shown to him this afternoon.

Admits Check

"Yes, I received this check from Angelus Temple and when I saw the word legal on it I asked Mrs. Kennedy, who had given it to me, what it meant," the judge testified.

Mrs. Kennedy told him that the temple bookkeeper had made it out and that if he wished she would make out another, Judge Hardy said.

"I said not to bother, that she knew I had rendered no legal service and that this check was merely evidence of friendship and good will. She agreed and I said I could accept it as long as she had no idea it was for legal services."

Phrase Denied

The famous phrase "lay off the Almee case" which Judge Hardy is accused of saying to one of the grand jurors investigating the McPherson kidnapping episode was never uttered by him, he declared today.

"I never said these words to Robert W. Bridon who claims I spoke to him, or anyone else, at anytime, or anyplace," the jurist emphatically declared.

The judge was calm and deliberate in his answers today. He might have been speaking from his own bench in the Los Angeles superior court to judge from his manner. The strain under which he was laboring was only betrayed by the way in which he nervously toyed with the wire leading from the loudspeaker microphone in front of him. He seldom spoke at the court or the spectators, glancing at his attorney when the question was put, and riveting his attention on the table before him when he answered.

His examination will be continued when court convenes tomorrow morning.

Use Good Jack
On Automobile

Play safe and block up the car in a most thorough manner before removing a wheel warns L. G. Evans, general service manager of the National Automobile club. It is unwise to trust to an ordinary jack the duty of upholding the car while the wheel is off. The usual narrow base affords too much opportunity for it to fall.

HOOVER, SENATE IN QUOTA DISPUTE

roads a bounty of $500,000,000."

Equalization Fee
Rep. Cannon, Dem., Mo., introduced an amendment providing for the equalization fee, with the consent:

"Mr. Hoover is a great man. He not only has baffled the republicans, but also the democrats."

McNary followed a lengthy report on his committee's bill with a speech in the senate opening debate in which he declared the debate plan was a "vain hope" though he said the plan would make the tariff effective for the farmer. It might prevent constructive permanent legislation, he added.

Immigration Issue

On the immigration issue, the president is faced with division in his own party. Senator Reed, Repn., Pa., who led a successful fight in the last senate to prevent repeal of the national origins provision, made the motion today to postpone action on repealing regulations indefinitely.

Under the national origins provision, annual influx of aliens would be reduced from 164,000 to 150,000. It would reduce greatly present quotas of the Irish Free state, Germany, Norway and Sweden, while nearly doubling those of Great Britain, Italy, Switzerland and Spain.
